No doubt things are cheaper at craft stores.

You can't replace expert advice, shooting the breeze about flies/hatches and maybe picking up a couple things that would not be broadcast on a website.

For example; good directions to the latest hotspot or even the best hot meatloaf sandwich etc...

Most shops provide instruction and classes etc..

(where you gonna go for your workshops if they are gone?)

This is also a great place to meet fellow like minded flyfishers.

For a journeyman like myself; I would gladly pay .50 more to keep what I consider a valuable resource in business as I need all the help I can get.

sandfly- I will be visiting you sometime in the spring as I have Pine Creek on my radar for 2 years now but have not made it up there.
