

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : winter scouting

Re: winter scouting

Author: : pcray1231

Date: : 2011/2/3 15:06:58

URL:

Starting at the mouth.

Most of the distance from the mouth up to Bellefonte is open. There might be a bit of posted water, I'm not sure, but most of it is definitely open.

The stream is closed in Bellefonte.

From Bellefonte to 550, not sure, I know there's some posted water, but I don't know %.

From 550 to Paradise is completely open to fishing except for a very short stretch right below the Paradise, and is all paralleled by Spring Creek Road.

From Paradise you can walk upstream several miles, but you do eventually run into a short posted stretch. Signs are not far downstream from Rockview Rd on the map.

You can get to the upper boundary of this posted stretch from Benner (Shiloh Rd) and walking downstream, I dunno, no more than a mile. Signs are just upstream of Rockview Rd. on the map. You can also walk upstream from Benner beyond the next access.

Which is Rock Road. Much of the area along Rock Road is open, though I'm not sure, I think there are a few posted patches.

In around Houserville, there are more posted areas than open areas, but both exist. Spring Creek Park definitely gives good access but there are others.

Upstream from Spring Creek Park, through Lemont, to the Quarry is largely posted, but there are a few spots you can get on it I think.