

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Lehigh River Dam Study

Re: Lehigh River Dam Study

Author: : troutbert

Date: : 2011/2/7 14:05:50

URL:

When you are trying to restore migratory fish runs, fish ladders never work as well as dam removal.

If you want shad back in the Lehigh, the dams will have to come down. If they are taken down, there's a good chance that the shad will come back in serious numbers, which would be great.

Those dams aren't used for hydro power, and they block the shad runs. So take them down.