The lower dams do see shad now, just not a very large return because of them. Shad are caught all the way up to Cementon dam. Dams disappear= Awesome fishery imo

Also, I know the laughs will come or I will be getting yelled at by you guys, BUT....once the dams disappear Atlantic Salmon and (Skilmanian Steel?) will be the next project. We are in Direct contact with the Dr. (not sure of his name) that has been running the NY Atlantic and Skilmanian steel project. He says The Lehigh would surpass the Salmon River. This is just what I have been told by some gentleman in the know.....Don't shoot the messenger.
