

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Lehigh River Dam Study

Re: Lehigh River Dam Study

Author: : gfen

Date: : 2011/2/8 10:09:17

URL:

Quote:

The Lehigh Valley: a natural and environmental history

In centuries past the Lehigh River served as a spawning ground for American Shad, alewives, and other sea-run species..."

No mention of salmon, trout, or char there. I find it odd to believe that if the Lehigh hosted a salmon run it wouldn't be mentioned instead of "other sea-run species," as they're kind of a big deal.