In preparation for getting on the water hopefully in the next month, I'm planning on trying my hand at building a few leaders following the tutorial on Youtube that was posted on here a while back. Do most of you that build leaders still purchase tippet to attach to it, or can you factor that into the build somehow?

I'm thinking as long as I have some 4x, 5x, and 6x, I should be good to go, right?

You attach a tippet on the end of the leader loop and change the tippet as needed. The leader itself lasts for a long time.
