That's pretty much what I do.

Continue to experiment-might try a loop to loop to see how I like that. Guess, I figure I will be pretty connected to the drifts shortlining and maybe the loops would'nt be a big deal. Season moves on I will go with more of a taper.

Hopefully this year I can kinda settle my reel setups into a nymph setups and dry setups. It is a pain because I was brought up on the nail knotted leaders and switching from streamer to nymph to dry can cause alot of leader reworks.

Fun to talk about but not as fun when your buddy is doing well and your sitting on a rock for 15 minutes reworking your leader- ha.
