I am getting a lot of PMs about this and folks may not have seen my announcement about this. So here is is again.

Hello,

With the recent update to the site I am having to make a emergency policy change about Private Messages. With so many messages being used on the site I am going to have to set a six month retention policy for PM's.

There is a new way to save your favorite 20 messages, but please do not use the site a permanent mail alternative. They take up too many resources. I had to remove 750,000 mesgages on the site over the past five days.

Please use the feature, but just don't rely on these messages there for permanence.
