

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Any interest in a Newbie Mini-Jam?

Re: Any interest in a Newbie Mini-Jam?

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2011/3/10 8:25:47

URL:

Quote:

IdratherbePhishing wrote:

if you ever do another jam please let me know i would love to attend

As Matt pointed out above, we have our annual "Jam" (short for jamboree) every year in May - usually located in center state near well known trout waters and accessible to folks from both sides of the state. It's a blast (and very informal) and you're welcome to join us. In the last couple years more and more forum members have been putting together smaller regional jams sometimes called "mini-jams" - such as the Beginner's Jam. There's currently an effort to put one together for the Lehigh River and they'll be more over the course of the year. Last summer I organized a one-day jam to fish for bass and float the Juniata. Usually, these get-togethers are announced in the Announcements and Events forum. Spend some more time on this site and familiarize yourself with the forums and you'll get a feel for what's going on.