I just got a catalogue in the mail and it looks like some of these reels go for about 600-800 bucks, are they really worth the money? I love the look of them and the custom paint, but thats alot of cash.

Kinda like a Mercedes or a Porsche when you can buy a Honda or a Subaru that will do the same thing.

Perfectly summed up.

There are times and places where you will be able to utilize Porsche attributes, but if you're just commuting to work any old reel will do.

On the other hand, they're solid. Its a serious hunk of steel. Just don't let anyone else put backing the reel.
