fishidiot,

I've heard that about Charlie Fox too. Apparently after all the pollution incidents on the Letort in the 70s and 80s, it broke Charlies heart to see that stream a mere shadow of what it had once been. In fact, in a conversation with Gene Macri -- who interviewed Charlie for Limestone Legends -- he told me that toward the end, Charlie wouldn't even fish the Letort anymore, he much preferred to fish for muskies. Supposedly, he was one hell of a muskie and bass angler on the Suskie.
