

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Tippet rings

Re: Tippet rings

Author: : PatrickG

Date: : 2011/4/5 14:33:52

URL:

They sell these at almost any fly shop. I got turned onto them a few years ago. I almost exclusively use furled leaders for most of my fishing, so they allow me to quickly add tippet. I generally use two, one at the end of the furled leader and one that connects to the last piece of tippet I use. Saves me from cutting down my leader each time I want to change my ending tippet.

I have had no issues with them not floating, I use them with tippet sizes down to 7x. I use many different leaders for dries, nymphing, streamers, and swinging wets, and can't think of any leader I have tied up that does not have at least one tippet ring.