

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Tippet rings

Re: Tippet rings

Author: : buffalo7

Date: : 2011/4/5 19:37:29

URL:

They must still make them. below is a post from scotland on a forrum from 2007.

"for my sixpenneth worth and this is my opinion of them having used them for over 9years now and find the no2,s in the mustad excellent.I like them and there is a knack of putting a fly on and off with them and it is easy once you know how to do it.As for being alien well many things are alien also like using floatant on your fly, degreaser on your line and more if it works for you and helps you and your happy and importantly its legal, use it and dont worry what others think about it.I dont use it in competitions as they are not allowed.They do open a bit after a while so you will need to change them every so often and depending on how good a catching day your having.Saves on nylon costs aswell.As for dragging a dry fly under ,again I have no probs fishing buzzers ,drys and lures on them and it is not a problem and you still catch fish with them.Some dont like them some do and its down to individual choice but for me it does not effect catch rates and adds a wee bit of a movement at times to the fly aswell.I do draw the line at size 16s and below though."

[http://nicksgearreview.blogspot.com/2 ... aka-mustad-fly-clips.html](http://nicksgearreview.blogspot.com/2... aka-mustad-fly-clips.html)