I did, realize my sense of cheap is different than most. The pack I bought was $8 for 20, though, and that's a lot of cash for a little metal ring.

Oh I agree that's steep. The ones I linked are most likely too big, but they were like $8 for 150 or something. There's gotta be a cheap way to get a little metal ring of of something or other. I'm thinking Michael's, could find something for jewelry making, maybe like the clasp rings on necklaces.

Smallest here are 4mm, which is roughly $\frac{5}{32}$ of an inch. If that's too big or you don't like the clasp, you can always buy chains and cut out the links.
