Well now that the planets and stars have all aligned I'm finally going to make it to my first Jam. I'm really looking forward to it.

Now..... Is there anyone willing to share a camp site? I will be sleeping in my truck so I just need a place to park it. I will be glad to help with the site fees of anyone who already has a site with room or split the cost with anyone needing a site, if there are any left. Since I will be solo I can't see taking up a site by my self if I don't have to.

Also if any one from northwest PA wants to ride down I plan on leaving Meadville some time Friday morning and returning late Sunday.

Thanks

Jeff
