Thank you so much for your response. I wanted to sneak up on them from behind but that way would have taken me quite far down the creek before i could re enter the water. It's quite reassuring to know that i am doing a few things right. Honestly, sometimes it feels like im doing everything wrong.

How important is line diameter between 2lb and 4lb test tippet? I started using 2lb test on my ultralight spinning rod and noticed a huge difference in the number of trout i landed as opposed to the 4lb i was previously using. Someone had told me it was because of the trouts ability to spot the line. I had assumed i would choose the same for tippet.

Thanks again.
