I have been using tippet rings for several years now and really like them. They are indeed light enough that I have no issues with using them even when a dry fly is tied on. If you are interested in trying them out I would suggest spending a little extra and getting decent ones from a reputable source. The first time I purchased them was off of ebay and they were not very good quality. If they are not smooth they will break the tippet. Even so $8.00 for 20 seems excessive to me. I have only purchased them one other time since the first go around. I forget how much I spent but I still have an ample supply that has lasted me about 2 years.
