

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Anyone use xink? (liquid Fly sink)

Re: Anyone use xink? (liquid Fly sink)

Author: : Yotrout

Date: : 2011/4/11 15:49:13

URL:

Lol...Man i don't want to catch a fish that bad.

Went out for about three hours today and got a bite! I caught a Sunny!

I stalked trout all day. I would sneak up behind them say twenty or thirty feet back and watch them feed. I took careful notice of where they were positioned relative to the surroundings. I threw everything at them nymphs, wooly buggers, bead heads, you name it. They would run up and look at it but no takers. Very frustrating. But at least i caught a Sunny. I met another fly guy named Jim who seemed to have a every possible hatch in his fly boxes. Really knowledgable guy gave me a few flies (Which i tried with no success on the way out) and some great insight on the water. I told him about the site and he said he checked it out before but hadn't been on in quite sometime.