

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Simple repair for cracked-in-half fly line?

Re: Simple repair for cracked-in-half fly line?

Author: : gfen

Date: : 2011/4/14 9:54:01

URL:

Quote:

Squairetail wrote:

Quote:

I now must refuse to retire this line because I'm contrary.

Now you're leaving the flyfishing behind and moving on to something else.
Be careful where you wade Gfen. Be very careful.

Being cheap? Man, I'm an expert in that field.

-shrug-

I'll replace it next year, its spending its final year relegated to roasting it a car, though. If I can find small enough heat shrink, that's the answer. Failing that, probably some flexament under thread, with a touch on top.