I haven't decided whether to jump in, but more than 15 flies is a burden to me and maybe some others. On the other hand, it would be nice if everyone who wants to tie can get in. Therefore, I would suggest not limiting the number of tiers. If you get more than, say, 15, you can divide the group in two and let people decide to tie for both groups if they can handle it, or just one of the two. Just a suggestion: set a deadline to "sign up." Then decide if you need to divide the group at that point.
