Keep them coming Gary-I need the laugh.

I will be seventy monday,went for my morning walk and a buzzard landed and strolled right across in front of me.No more than 20 feet away,I didn't realize they would come that close to a human.Unless they sensed or smelled something.

I was actually worried for an instant it might fly up and peck at my eyes the way I read they do when they know an animal has about had it.True story-:}
