*Assuming you have the knowledge and experience required.

It seems to me that if you want to guide all you need to do is get the liability insurance and apply for the permit. 250k of liability insurance is pretty cheap. My company has a million covered and i pay $48 bucks a month. Now factor in website, marketing, phone lines, tax id's, and employees etc. Its all relatively cheap to do and you don't have to get it all at once. For instance you obviously will start with a website, your cell phone, and business cards. Then as your clientel grows so will your business and it's image. BUT, and i stress this, Don't quit your day job! Your business will literally become like a child. It's a gradual progression and takes time to grow healthy. You wouldn't force feed your baby, you would feed it when it's hungry. I applaud you on your efforts to make money doing something you love and can tell you that you CAN do it no matter what ANYONE says. I truly hope it all works out for you. If you need any assistance (With the business aspect) please feel free to shoot me a PM.
