

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : nymphing deep slow water

Re: nymphing deep slow water

Author: : jayL

Date: : 2011/4/19 21:33:12

URL:

It depends on the stream. Some places, fishing the frog water is required because there is so much of it. The faster stretches are usually really good in these streams, but I can't spend all day on them because there are so few.

The upper delaware and a few small streams closer to home come to mind.

In central and north central PA, I usually skip frog water at all costs, because there is enough productive fast water. I consider that a luxury of fishing those streams.