This is the thread I've been waiting for. This will be my first Jam so I wanted to be prepared. The dries listed are pretty close to what is on my list. If the green drakes are late this year, what about green drake nymphs? I think they might be a bit different than standard PTs? Most notably the gills? Anyone have a favorite pattern?

The only dry fly fishing i normally do is the "adams hatch" on my local stocker streams so Im pretty excited about this...even if it rains.

Thanks guys.
