

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Redington or Simms?

Re: Redington or Simms?

Author: : jayL

Date: : 2011/5/11 11:11:53

URL:

Just got off the phone with simms warranty/repair department. Thus basically concludes one of the most pleasant customer service transactions that I've ever had. The guy was nice, gave me a full runoff report, talked hoppers, and gave me full credit for the returned waders. He offered a discount on top of the difference in price for an upgrade to the g3's. I went with the convertibles.

He even told me he'd put a word in for me at simms if I ever decided to uproot and head to bozo. 🏠

The waders I had were sub par, but they stand behind them.

In talking to the people there, they seemed to grudgingly accept that the freestones were not fit for serious angling.