Tiemco came out with #32 hooks 6-7 years ago. But I do admit that you have to be pretty fanatic to tie and use something that small

When I first bought them, I had doubts that I could really catch a fish on them.

But they do work.

I don't use them very often though. Once in while, when I find smutters that refuse everything else down to #28, I'll turn to them, and sometimes they do the trick. Of course, sometimes they refuse them also, and I just admit to myself that the fish won today, and move on!
