Not local rumor, absolute fact. Those poachers you speak of are the amish/menonites.

The stream is in a rural area of PA with a low population base and an even lower number of trout streams to monitor - i.e. it would provide very little "bang for the buck" of the PFBC to attempt enforcement.

Maybe you could setup a sting operation and make a citizens arrest? Or stock your own fish loaded with Mercury and let them eat up...Existing incestual practices paired with Mercury poisoning should put an end to it.
