Hey gfen. first off nice pattern. second, this has been my fly of choice on two trips to the arctic. The key for the fly is to let it hit the water pretty good. let the fish know something just fell in. I then do a series on short but deliberate strips to act like the mouse trying to get away. fish it near the banks and near any type of structure like logs and boulders. Its amazing how hard trout smash that fly. Have fun !!
