Night time. day time, any time?

I know lots of people do this sort of thing, but it was a unique coming together of ideas that made me want to try it. Ripping streamers over a rock ledge and watching fish swing at it, my brother in law talking about his pet flying squirrel that fell out of a tree onto him, and the slow, painful walk over an essential skunk past ideal banks and under lights.

Its a beast to throw it, I was using a 7/8 wt and having a hell of a time heaving it, but the thought of something hammering it out of the black was motivating.

Again, we'll try it a time or two more before its relegated to the bass box.
