Lookit,

I think that we are all on the same page as far as digging the environment. There is a LOT that we can do. The industrial revolution ravaged the world and particularly our part of the country. We will be cleaning it up perhaps forever.

But...

Al Gore is self-serving hypocrite. Anybody who lives in a mansion and flies around on private jets to get speaking fees loses the luxury of mau-mauing regular people about environmental issues.

Also no objective person in the planet could suggest that we are primarily the ones at fault. We are perhaps the most environmentally responsible nation in the world. Once China, India, Russia and the rest of BFE get their crap together, then come talk to us.

Ryan,

I thought I just turned on the Sean Hannity radio show reading that spew. you could have at least changed a few words rather than recite it verbatim.

Enjoy the kool-aid.
