

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : The Evening Rise Flyshop - Lancaster, PA

Re: The Evening Rise Flyshop - Lancaster, PA

Author: : tobewan77

Date: : 2011/6/13 14:29:48

URL:

Been trying to stay away from this thread, but i have no sorrow for that shop. I've had good friends and relatives that worked there and Nick deserves every piece of karma coming back at him. He treats his employees, including his wife like shiz.

I still remember taking in a bent battenkill spool (as a 13 year old), and being the lucky one that i am, Nick waited on me. He charged me full rate for a new spool. Someone took a very nice rod in to the shop and told Nick to give it to a young kid looking to start fishing. He listed it on ebay.

I feel sorry for the good people that mostly manned the store. But i hope this leads to an even better shop in the region in the near future.