That's a great site-- one I used early on to assist me in the learning curve. As for making it a sticky, that decision is left to Dave Kile. However, it is probably unlikely that one of the many instructional websites would be highlighted in that manner. This does however suggest a great idea which may be to create a page or thread as a sort of "Knowledge Base" where all the great on-site instructional sites could be catalogued with links, such as:

Fly Tying

Casting

Etc.
