I challenge the members who are so inclined to put together a list of links on relevant topics for beginners. If you want to take the responsibility for, as an example, "Fly Tying For Beginners," just post your intention or post the collection of links. Then once a sufficient amount are assembled, we can put together a post that collects and categorizes them. We have a start with Fly Tying 101.

Once assembled, we can approach Dave about making a sticky out of them. I can assist but I can't run the show. Any volunteers?
