My favorite site to point out to folks is:

www.troutflies.com/tutorials

Another good site for beginners is www.flyanglersonline.com They have a beginners section that has articles on how to assemble your gear, tie basic knots etc. Flytying, rod building and casting are regular features too.

Orvis has a good page on animated knots:

Watching the tippet tie itself into a knot can help a person figure out how to make those things! Or it can be a hopeless distraction.
