Well as the whole fly fishing world knows by now, Sage is discontinuing the Zed Axis and replacing it with a rod called "The One". It's "lighter, faster, stronger, more sensitive" etc, etc.

So who is getting rid of their cheap off-shore junk and replacing it with "The One"? It's hard to keep up with these fly rod manufacturers. VXP, I hardly knew ya. In all seriousness if you've been dying to get a hold of a Zed Axis you can now find them discounted.
