Private land, open to the public,

all im going to say about where.

Frank,

I think your confusing accomplishment with a neat story about 2 friends meeting by chance and getting out on the water together and having success. Knowing Squaretail personally, I can tell you he would rather they be large wild trout. I think anyone of us would but that wasn't what was important here. Neither one of these guys care to establish themselves like GH and neither one of them probably care to hear grumpy old men whine about trivial things.
