That's funny. I saw it as a bunch of people kissing Dan's butt. 😄

If I were him, I'd be embarrassed about now.

I never fished with Dan, but he is a heck of a nice guy. He didn't even know me and yet he offered me a place to stay in the event that I made it to the 2010 jam (it was a last minute decision). And I did make it.

But I couldn't sleep because of all the bright street lights outside of that cabin.

(last sentence was a joke)

My impression of Dan is that he is very quiet and doesn't fish for some kind of accomplishment or recognition. He fishes because he enjoys it.
