Jaggers is one I have definitely retained. Chipped ham is another. And I still carry the "ah" of Picksburghese. I'm a metallurgist, for Pete's sake, and I can't say iron! Just comes out "ah'n".

Better than Berks Countyisms, though. I about exploded when I first heard "outten the lights". Friggin jaggoffs! And I'm sorry, "yinz" may be bad, but "yous" is just as bad. If they call me a yinzer, I tell em it's better than a youser. :)

I have successfully escaped the whole pop/soda thing though. Just specify brand, problem solved, and nobody paints you as an outsider (cause lets face it, I'm now an outsider to everywhere).
