
Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : WTF Exxon!!!!

Re: WTF Exxon!!!!

Author: : afishinado

Date: : 2011/7/3 9:45:19

URL:

Quote:

jjsjigs wrote:
agreed. WTF?

Hey jigs,

I had a conversation with a higher-up from one of the big oil companies last week. Anyway, the natural gas companies (not the oil companies mind you) have received the rights to run pipelines under your river (the NB Susky) in a whole bunch of areas up there.

Further, I don't think people realize that the real party hasn't even started!!! The nat gas guys are exploring and drilling. When they do find gas right now they are just capping the wells. They are waiting for the gas prices to climb (they're rather low right now). But the kicker is, before they do start extracting, what do you think they will need?.....PIPELINES!!! Wait 'til they start diggin' and layin' 'em all through the region!!!....including under and across the Susky and other rivers and streams.

Further, compressor booster stations have to be built to keep the gas flowing. Given the mountainous terrain in northern PA, they must be built in very short intervals and he told me they are very loud and very obtrusive!

How come nobody told us about all this stuff!!!!!!

SAD!!! 😞

Attach file:

 Northern PA meets South Philly.jpg (70.07 KB)

