Don't you get a 40% discount? Again, these things and most of ebay probably all come out of ~~Tokyo Joe's~~Beijing Sam's House of Machine Shop, so why would you spend twice as much on an Allen just to have his name on the side of it when you'll have to send it back to himw hen it breaks and eventually throw it out when he stops making it and won't support it, versus being able to walk into your place of employment and right back out with a brand new one for life?

I don't get you.
