Nigel,

Never got back to this. I rowed it right around 500 last year, both in hard boats and in rafts, and at that level, I'd take a raft. Dryflyguy is right: if you're going on a weekend, you can count on enough water to float--of course, if you're going on a weekend this time of year, you can also count on plenty of people floating. (I'd rather have low water.)
