

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Good, or bad reintroduction?

Re: Good, or bad reintroduction?

Author: : Gorosaurus

Date: : 2011/7/21 17:49:54

URL:

I can also agree that the dams should be removed, especially those that serve no public purpose (Dock Street Dam was a sewage dam when it was built). However, it is good to see that these eels really do help the native mussels. Those bivalves have been severely outnumbered by asian imports, and this can only help bring some level of equilibrium to the river.