stick with your tippet material you're buying specifically for fly fishing. It'll break down over time and you'll probably throw some away before using it all. Its a smaller diameter than your spin fishing line and fits better in your vest. Keep it out of the sun and repair leaders at home. Take the advise above and get a kit or enough material to tie your own leaders. It'll save you money in the long run and you can custom them to whatever your needs are.
