I can step in for jdaddy...Guide spools are just larger spools of tippet. Instead of 30 yards they are usually 100 yards.

For example rio powerflex is @ $5 for 30 yards, but a guid spool is like $14. Just look at cabelas website and you'll see the different prices from regular spools to guide spools.

Note Orvis uses meters and Rio uses yards, which works out to same amount of material.

100m = $9.95

30m = $4.25

110y = $9.95

30y = $4.50
