jdaddy,

100 m is almost 10% longer than 100 yd (well, 9.36%, to be more accurate).

As Jdaddy mentioned, Rio guide spools are 110 yds.

Anyway, I can't get into orvis super strong. The memory drives me nuts, and it seems to have crappy abrasion resistance when compared to the rio.

Powerflex or bust for me, from now on. I do have SS in heavier sizes and will continue to buy it for mid sections and terminal sections on streamer and the occasional nymph rig.
