

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : stripped peacock??

Re: stripped peacock??

Author: : tomgamber

Date: : 2008/1/20 18:29:53

URL:

Quote:

Laquering is using head cement or fingernail polish to strengthen the quill because it is delicate.

Using "flex-i-ment" (a flexible head cement) works well for this as well as the backs of quills you may use for wings as it makes them more flexible and more durable. I usually coat a whole feather before I ever cut the first wing from it.