

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Night Vision Binoculars

Re: Night Vision Binoculars

Author: : ryanh

Date: : 2006/12/31 22:05:47

URL:

I have a night vision monicle. It is really bad, maybe 1st generation night vision. It is from some old soviet bloc country, the directions are even in broken english. Probably the cheapest and most effective way would be to use the night vision feature on nearly any digital cam corder. Set up a tripod and focus onto a likely spot and then film, or watch on your screen. The tripod would be very useful as my monicle would "dance" all over the place. Ok for looking at deer and large mamals. Fish and flies would be rough.