Well guys. You won't see this story in our local newspapers... but BradCo. is prosecuting it's first case of prostitution in 35 years. Evidently, Chessie Energy hired a few women to work in the mancamp. Under the guise of "Morale, Welfare, and Recreation" these ladies were supposed to tend to laundry, sewing/tailoring, etc. But in reality they were "servicing" the drillers in other ways. He, he, he....

Someone musta left the red light on? Roxanne.... Roxanne..... sorry, bad Police song parody.
