I want to make it clear that no personal information is shared, sold, or provided to any person or businesses from this site. The information you provide on this site is for registration purposes only. You have some optional information that you can share to others: Real name, AIM, website, location and a few other choices. That is your choice and that data is not shared or provided to other sources.

Email is required for registration, but it can be turned off along with the PM feature to deter other board members from contacting you directly. However, the email address can be used by the webmaster only to contact users with issues regarding conduct.

The site will be generally open Monday through Friday during the day for open registration.

Sincerely,

Dave Kile
