

---

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Privatization of State parks?

Re: Privatization of State parks?

Author: : TimMurphy

Date: : 2011/8/27 13:40:07

URL:

Quote:

FlySwatter wrote:

Quote:

jayL wrote:

This is what happens when the far right sweeps elections.

We made our bed, now we'll be charged to lay in it.

Exactly! Don't blame the govnt., blame the voters. Voters knee-jerk to the hot button issues and end up voting for extremes (left or right). What happened to Moderates?

Dear flyswatter,

Are there any other moderates left besides you and I? 😊

I don't think that privatizing every conceivable thing is a good idea at all. While there are many businesses that are successful over a long term there are also businesses that fail on a daily basis.

In my way of thinking privatizing something like State Parks and putting them in the hands of the HIGH BIDDER, because that is how it would be done, is a recipe for disaster.

It won't be long before the high bidder has investors screaming for returns and it runs out of capital. Service will decline and user costs will increase to make up the difference, ultimately everything will fail.

Governor Corbett and the State's Republican leadership have a ready made solution to the budget shortfall staring them right in the face yet they steadfastly refuse to tax the gas drillers.

Instead they prefer to offer up ridiculous alternative solutions in hopes that the populace becomes desperate enough to consider them.

Regards,

Tim Murphy 😊